Murder trial underway

General Manager

A jury has been picked and a trial is underway in the death of Gerilyn Walerski, 52, formerly of Florida.

Law enforcement and EMS were dispatched to a home on KY Highway 2003 around 4 pm on June 13th, 2010. Deputy Kevin Berry was the first officer on the scene and found the alleged shooter, Ray Hacker, Jr. lying face down on the porch.

When they entered the home they found Walerski lying in the bathroom floor with a single gunshot to the head and a 22 rifle was found nearby. According to reports, the couple had a heated argument before the shooting.

Hacker has been held in the Jackson County Detention Center since the shooting. The trial is expected to last a couple of days.

Fiscal Court Takes First Step Toward Criminalizing Synthetic Pot

The Jackson County Fiscal Court took the first step toward addressing this problem by conducting a first reading of ordinance 010214 that would make it illegal to possess or sale of synthetic pot or cannabinoids. The youth in our county are "turning on" to this new wave of drugs that are made to mimic pot. These drugs are commonly packaged and sold over-the-counter across the country as herbal incense with a warning on the label "not for human consumption". However, that warning doesn't seem to deter those that are looking for a cheap high. In addition, to being legally purchased these drugs don't show up in drug tests. Black Magic, K2, Mojo, Super XXX Herbal Incense Blend, Atomic Blueberry Herbal Kush and something called Funky Green Stuff are brands of this incense being sold across the country.

A big heart-felt thanks goes to all the generous bidders who helped us raise the money as well as the businesses and individuals who donated items.

Special thanks go to our announcers Jim Brummett and Tim Madden, as well as WWAG radio station, C & W Cable and PRTC for their assistance with broadcasting the event.

Wandering Boy Rescued

A four-year-old child is safe thanks to the quick actions of two Jackson County school bus drivers. John Tompkins and Larry Smith spotted the 4-year-old boy, barefoot and by himself, on Highway 421 while they were driving their regular bus routes Tuesday afternoon (February 07th, 2012). The bus drivers did not see any adults around the child, so they took him to nearby Sand Gap Elementary School, where he was checked out by EMS.

"If the child stepped back into the road, (he) would have been killed," reported Smith. "If somebody come over the hill, passing a car couldn't have seen it, or anything like that, the child would have been killed."

The Jackson County Sheriff's Department investigated the case and arrested the boys' mother, Pattie Nichols, charging her with criminal abuse, 1st degree. According to information obtained from the Jackson County Sheriff's Office, Nichols also has a 2 year old toddler and a newborn infant. She has since been released with an order from the court to always have someone with her while she attends to the children.

KY Congressional Redistricting Plan Approved

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

State lawmakers approved House Bill 302 and a congressional redistricting plan for Kentucky last Friday, February 10th, 2012 (one day after an attorney went to court to ask a judge to take over the issue). The House voted 58-26 for the plan just a couple of hours after the Senate passed it 29-7. Gov. Steve Beshear signed the heavily debated measure, which also reopened the congressional filing deadline for five days, into law. The bill contained an emergency clause, which means it took effect when the governor signed it.

The plan has met with some criticism but could help some incumbent Republican congressmen, including U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers. Rogers would keep some key counties that he wanted in the 5th District that he has represented for more than 30 years. Lincoln County was moved to Roger's 5th District.

Lexington attorney Scott White had filed a lawsuit last Thursday (February 09th, 2012) asking a judge to draw new boundaries around Kentucky's six congressional districts, because lawmakers had not done so. White has reported that he will drop the lawsuit now that lawmakers, spurred by the threat of court intervention, have passed their plans.

KENTUCKY FARM BUREAU FOOD CHECK-OUT WEEK FEBRUARY 19-25, 2012

Jackson County Farm Bureau would like to call attention to the low cost of food in America. According to the latest statistics compiled by the Agriculture Department's (USDA's) Economic Research Service, American families and individuals currently spend, on average, just under 11 percent of their disposable personal income for food.

Applying that statistic to the calendar year means the average household will have earned enough disposable income-that portion of income available for spending or saving-to pay for its annual food supply in about 49 days.

Food Check-Out Week is a national campaign led by the American Farm Bureau which commemorates the calendar day when the average American family will have earned enough income to pay for the entire year's food supply. During the week of February 19-25, 2012 Kentucky Farm Bureau will distribute baskets of Kentucky grown farm commodity items to members of state legislature and constitutional officers.

Jackson County Farm Bureau along with Jackson County High School's FFA is commemorating Food Check-Out week by passing out information cards at local grocery stores. They will also be giving away a $25 gift certificate to a local grocery store. Jackson County Farm Bureau members may sign up for the drawing at the Farm Bureau Office in McKee through February 24. The winner will be notified by phone.

U.S. consumers spend about 10 percent of their disposable annual income on food!

Celebrating the Affordability of Food in America!

Agricultural Facts

- The agriculture and food industries employ approximately 24 million people nationwide.
- U.S. agricultural exports generate more than $100 billion in business activity annually.
- Almost 90 percent of U.S. farms are operated by families or individuals.
- Today's farmer - using less land, water and energy than previous generations - grows enough food and fiber to feed 154 people.
- When applied to calendar days, the average American earns enough income to pay for his entire year's supply of food in just seven weeks. By comparison, the same person must work until mid-April to pay for annual taxes. That's seven weeks for food and more than three months for taxes.
- According to Kentucky Farm Bureau's Marketbasket Survey data, the average retail food price of 40 basic grocery items in Kentucky has increased less than $45 over the last 20 years.

Re-Redistricting: Chaos at the Capitol

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

Concerns regarding the constitutionality of the new district maps for the state legislative boundaries resulted in Franklin Circuit Judge Phillip Shepherd issuing an injunction on February 07th, 2012 prohibiting the implementation of the boundaries for the Kentucky House of Representatives and the Kentucky Senate as they are set forth in House Bill 1. The injunction effectively reinstates the old district boundaries. Shepherd ruled last week that the new districts are out of balance and needed to be redrawn to comply with the "one person, one vote" mandate in federal and state law. This ruling basically reinstated the old boundaries that were in existence prior to the redistricting law that Gov Beshear signed into law on January 20th, 2012. Judge Shepherd also ruled that the filing extension would be extended through 4:00 pm on Friday, February 10th, 2012.

Judge Shepherd's ruling drew a response from several that contend the judge should not have struck down the redrawn district maps for Kentucky legislators and they are now seeking a ruling by the state Supreme Court. They filed an appeal on Monday with the Kentucky Court of Appeals asking that the case be sent directly to the high court. The appeal is, in essence, asking the Supreme Court to overturn the ruling last week that invalidated the district maps.

In the appeal, the Legislative Research Commission (LRC) contends that Franklin Circuit Judge Phillip Shepherd effectively drew a new map when he placed a stay on the bill that set redrawn lines for the 2012 elections. LRC contends that drawing districts is a power reserved solely for the legislature.

This maddening process began with a breakdown in the collaborative pro-

FISCAL

Jackson County Ambulance Service Director Greg Hughes hands out a budget report for review by the Fiscal Court.

The draft ordinance states, "These substances are harmful if consumed and present a significant public health danger that can result in hospitalization or death."

Currently, anyone can find fake marijuana in stores across Kentucky. It has been reported that Senator Rand Paul of Kentucky is blocking a bill in the US Senate that is designed to ban synthetic marijuana. However, several of his Senate colleagues want to change his mind.

County Clerk Donald "Duck" Moore presented the court with a check in the amount of $51,557.27 representing the Clerks 2011 Fee Settlement - Excess Fees.

In other business, the Fiscal Court approved pay resolution #8 in the CBDG project for the amount of $86,925.70. The project is nearing 90% completion on the first phase and two families may be moving into their new homes within the next two weeks. The CEDA hopes to bid out the next phase as soon as mid to late March 2012.

Greg Hughes of the Jackson County Ambulance Service presented the Fiscal Court with a report on their budget. The Ambulance Service struggles to stay financially ahead. However, they are finding ways to save money. According to Hughes, the service plans on relocating to the old veterinarian building in Gray Hawk. This would save them approximately $8,000 per year in rent in addition to reducing the expenses associated with electricity and water.

"The Ambulance Service is "not out of the woods but is headed in the right direction," said County Judge Executive William O. Smith.

The court approved the parks and recreation monthly report along with the Treasurer's report, bills and transfers. The next meeting of the fiscal court was set for March 13th, 2012 @ 10:00 am.

Arrest made in thefts from Wal-Mart

Hobert Buttery

Back in December a video was released on the news of a man and woman stealing thousands of dollars worth of items from several Wal-Marts in Kentucky.

They were identified by some as Hobert Buttery, 36 and Amanda Rader, 24 of Jackson County.

On February 13th they were arrested on I-75 near the Tennessee border by Kentucky State Police of the London post.

Buttery is lodged in the Laurel County Correctional Center with four charges of theft by unlawful taking/dishonesty at press time. No information was available for Rader.

cess between the parties in Frankfort. State Representative Marie Rader expressed her concerns writing, "Our leadership and I stood ready to work side by side with those across the aisle to draft a redistricting plan that would be fair and equitable to all Kentuckians. But now their actions have created a terse and contentious atmosphere and could endanger any work we still need to do to improve our Commonwealth."

When Beshear approved the new districting plan several House Republicans and one Senate Democrat sued in January challenging the constitutionality of the new boundaries. The lawsuit contends that the new districts could have been better balanced by population and redrawn in such a way that fewer counties would have been split among districts. The new legislative districts produced some oddly shaped boundaries. For example, the new boundary of State Representative Marie Rader's 89th House District stretches from the Tennessee line in McCreary County, zigzags narrowly through Laurel County, then encompasses all of Jackson County for a geographic setup that one lawmaker said would require an airplane for travel. In another bizarre configuration, one Senate district stretches from Barbourville to Morehead.

Redistricting is mandated every 10 years to account for population changes reported in the most current U.S. Census. The last Census found that the state's overall population grew from 4 million to 4.3 million from 2000 to 2010, forcing new legislative and congressional district boundaries to be drawn. Kentucky is one of at least 25 states with pending court cases involving redistricting.

Shepherd's ruling prohibits recognition of the redrawn districts and restores the old boundaries. That means that Senator Tom Jensen is, once again, the senator for Jackson County (the Supreme Court Ruling expected on Tuesday may change it all back but at press time no decision).

Loans for Socially Disadvantaged Persons

A socially disadvantaged farmer is one of a group whose members have been subjected to racial, ethnic, or gender prejudice because of their identity as members of the group without regard to their individual qualities. For the purposes of this program, socially disadvantaged groups have been defined as women, Blacks or African Americans, American Indians or Alaskan Natives, Hispanics, Asians, and Native Hawaiians or other Pacific Islanders.

REV. LLOYD MENNINGS WINS 1961 CADILLAC CAR

COURT UPHOLDS KINGS ELECTION TO SCHOOL BOARD

The Court of Appeals ruled today that Willie King is legally qualified to be a member of the Jackson County Board of Education.

The Commonwealth questioned his eligibility on grounds he did not have an eight-grade education and he was employed by the board at the time of his election in 1958.

But the high court affirming Jackson County Circuit Court, said the evidence was sufficient t show King had graduated from the eight grade in 1931-32 and that he resigned as a school bus driver a few days before the election.

TRUE VINE

INSPIRATIONAL THOUGHTS INTO GOD'S WORD

Author: Lynette Hunter truevinebook.com

Romans 5:1, 1 Corinthians 6:20, 7:23,
Ephesians 2:14, 1 John 2:3-6

MARK THE PERFECT MAN AND BEHOLD
THE UPRIGHT; FOR THE END OF THAT MAN IS PEACE. Psalm 37:37

Reconciliation with God is more appreciative for some than others. The honorable life of King David, up until his failure of committing adultery, would never have been forethought by others as being imperfect. He came from respected and Godly parents, had an exceptional musical talent, and showed bravery, wisdom, and patience in all that is recorded about him. Yet, the temptation of sin has no respect of persons and has a way of snowballing in an individual's life, no matter the person.

King David seemed to know sin nature and God's cleansing power as well as anyone in scripture. Having spiritual knowledge of committed sin comes with responsibility for repentance. The humbleness of King David's repentant and contrite spirit confirms that he was truly a man after God's own heart. God had divinely blessed him through so many circumstances, it was imperative that he be restored unto God's favor once again. Once we have experienced the peace of God, we realize it's something that's hard to live without. Spiritual peace, not only the feeling of peace but also the state of peace, comes at no cost to us, because Jesus paid the price. It does require self-denial to accept Jesus and this awesome gift of reconciliation. Jesus opened up the way for us to live in peace, harmony, and contentment; but Satan has many ways to block our access to it. All of them deceitful, making it seem as though we will never attain a lifestyle of joy and happiness. He can blind us to believe that peace is so far away or maybe even non-existent in this time of anxiety we live in, but redemption in Jesus is so nigh to them who draw nigh to Him.

It takes the power of the Holy Spirit within us to make us self-denying enough to live in a perfect state of peace, where needs are met and prayers are answered. Even in the midst of this crazy world, we can experience a life of peace, provision, contentment, and awesome tranquil fellowship with our Heavenly Father. When we are repentant, God is faithful to cleanse us from sin, renew our heart, and restore our joy, no matter the failure that besets us.

"A Simple Man"

Margaret Faye Hensley
Part 19

Growing up in a large family has its advantages! There is always someone to play with! You learn at an early age to share almost everything with someone else. Sometimes it is your clothing you share or it might be your shoes or toys. You learn to be patient and get used to not getting your own way a good portion of the time. Clarence often told his daughters how he learned core survival skills as a young boy, especially when it came to meals. "There wasn't a problem with obesity where I grew up," Clarence would tell them. "Our goal in life was to get enough food to eat to stay strong and not get too skinny!" Clarence would say. He said his older sisters were cooking meals by ten years of age and washing clothes like grown women. Every child had their chores to complete so the family unit stayed afloat! His older brother Will was his best friend and his worst enemy. There was two years difference between them and they did most everything together. They shared a bed, shared clothing, shared chores and shared a competitive spirit! They made a game out of most of the difficult chores like cutting and hauling heavy wood to the house. Their physical appearance was even similar. Both boys were tall and lean with a head full of dark hair. The brothers loved to compete. They were happy boys that were very active. When they laid down at night, they fell right to sleep because they were so active in the daytime. They loved to listen to country music on the radio. They did not have the luxury of having musical instruments in their humble home, but looked forward to the occasional relative who would come and bring an instrument to play while visiting them.

Clarence loved to sing. He learned every song he could and would write the words to the songs on empty spaces on pages torn from a Sears & Roebuck catalog. He would fold the catalog pages and tuck in the pencil he used, and wedge them into the boards of the walls in their bedroom. He and Will were the only ones who knew where he kept the songs. There was a perfect space between the makeshift closet and the wall of the bedroom. He wondered how many songs he had copied over the years they had shared that bedroom. All five boys slept in two beds in the boy's bedroom, while the six sisters shared three beds in the girl's bedroom. Their mother had a bed in the main room and for years had a cradle next to her bed with a new born sleeping there. The older children were paired with a younger child to keep an eye on during certain times. They never used the word babysitter then, but that was essentially what they would have to do when their mother worked in the garden and cooked meals.

Fascinating Fact

It was the accepted practice in Babylon 4,000 years ago that for a month after the wedding, the bride's father would supply his son-in-law with all the mead he could drink.

Mead is a honey beer and because their calendar was lunar based, this period was called the honey month, which we know today as the honeymoon.

Generals to Play Clay County Tigers in 49th District Tournament Opener

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

The JCHS Generals will host Bell County for their last home game ever at the old JCHS on Thursday, February 16th, 2012 as they prepare for the post-season. The Generals will play the Clay County Tigers (18-10) in the first game of the 49th District tournament on Monday February 20th, 2012 at the North Laurel High School. The game is set to tip-off at 8:15 pm.

The Generals lost their last three games on the road heading into the final week of the regular season. The team suffered defeats at Lee County (60-68), Harlan County (44-63) and Whitley County (53-59). These losses brought the Generals season record down to 12 wins and 14 losses. The last two games at home were set to be against OBI (Tuesday, February 14th, 2012) and Bell County (February 16th, 2012). These games are certainly games that the Generals could win.

The Bell County game on Thursday will also coincide with Homecoming Night for the Generals. This will be the last regular season game played in the old gym so that will make the night very special. The team is scheduled to play in the new JCHS next season.

Kentucky Afield Outdoors:

New or improving fishing opportunities for 2012

Get ready only a few weeks remain on your current annual fishing license. The new license year begins March 1.

This coming year presents some new opportunities to catch rainbow trout, blue catfish, redear sunfish, also known as shellcrackers, and white crappie.

Black crappie now dominate the population in Taylorsville Lake, and a good spawn last year should lead to good fishing for blacks in the coming years. Also, three years of white crappie stockings should lead to great fishing this spring.

“The stocked white crappie are doing pretty good,” said Gerry Buynak, assistant director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. “They are growing to about 9 inches long in less than two years. We found a few white crappie over the 9-inch limit last year, so there should be more for anglers to catch this year.”

White crappie stockings will continue at Taylorsville Lake and Kentucky Lake this year as well as eastern Kentucky’s Carr Creek and Paintsville lakes.

Anglers report catching keeper black crappie by walking the bank near the Settler’s Trace access and casting Roadrunners and lime-green curly-tailed grubs at stickups and flooded timber.

The blue catfish at Taylorsville Lake are doing well. “An angler caught a 48 pounder out of Taylorsville last year,” Buynak said. “We starting stocking them at Barren in 2010 and they are doing well there and also at Dewey Lake.”

Blue catfish fight hard and taste great. They like live or fresh dead bait. Cut bait made from gizzard shad or skipjack herring entices hungry blue catfish as do live shad.

“We’ve also stocked blue catfish in Wilgreen Lake since 2009 and they are doing pretty well,” Buynak said. The 169-acre lake provides excellent largemouth bass fishing and decent fishing for bluegill and redear sunfish.

“We’ve stocked redear sunfish in Yatesville and Fishtrap lakes and they should be coming on,” Buynak said. Both of these lakes offer excellent fishing for bluegill and should provide bountiful redear fishing as the stocked fish proliferate. Yatesville Lake has excellent bluegill numbers while Fishtrap Lake holds trophy bluegill in the 11- to 12-inch range.

Kentucky anglers who want catch fish close to home need to visit one of the Fishing in Neighborhoods (FINs) lakes. Lakes in this program regularly receive stockings of trout and catfish. Fisheries personnel for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife monitor the largemouth bass and sunfish populations in these lakes and stock these species if needed to maintain consistent fishing. These lakes make ideal places to take family members, children and beginners fishing with an excellent chance of catching something. For more information on the FINs lakes, visit the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife homepage on the internet at fw.ky.gov or pick up a free copy of the 2012 Kentucky Fishing and Boating Guide, available wherever fishing licenses are sold. You may request a copy by calling the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Information Center at 1-800-858-1549.

Get out and wet a line this spring and enjoy these new fishing opportunities.

JCMS 6th Grade Colonels 2012 Extreme Classic Champions

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

The JCMS 6th Grade Colonels traveled to Powell County last weekend (Feb 11th & 12th, 2012) and dominated the 2012 Extreme Classic. The Colonels participated in the tournament along with Menifee County, Estill County, Powell County, and Montgomery County. The Colonels secured the trophy going undefeated (4-0) and beating Estill County in the championship game.

The Colonels took control early in the game but then fell victim to some foul trouble allowing Estill to cut a double-digit lead down to single digits. "This was a great effort by the entire team," said Coach Dean Rader. "The bench came in and made significant contributions in the game allowing us to weather the storm and bring home the championship."

The 6th Grade Colonels finished their season with the championship and a final record of 22-8.

Caleb Moore won the free-throw competition and Tanner Harris won the 3-point shooting contest. This saw the JCMS 6th Grade Colonels come home with every first place trophy on the line in the tournament.

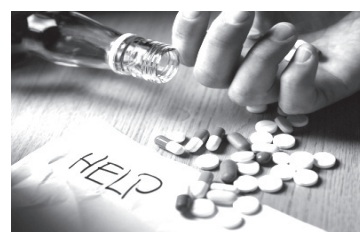

Congratulations to the Colonels on a great season!

"What really knocks me out is a book that, when you're all done reading it, you wish the author that wrote it was a terrific friend of yours and you could call him up on the phone whenever you felt like it. That doesn't happen much, though."

The Catcher in the Rye

By J.D. Salinger

In a world full of "phonies", J.D. Salinger, the author of The Catcher in the Rye, successfully acknowledges a new outlook upon the world. His voice of reason is smoothly narrated through the book's protagonist, Holden Caulfield. Despite its 1951 publication date, Holden has become one of history's most memorable literary figures. However, the novel still remains to be one of the most controversial novels to date, due to its raw perspective on life.

Taking place in the winter of 1949, Holden Caulfield, our narrator, and also a student at Pencey Prep, begins with his many (dreadful) experiences at the school. His critiquing of the student body and faculty comes from the result of them being superficial, or as he calls them "phony". After being shortly expelled, due to a lack of academic performance, Caulfield takes a train to New York. Although he could return to his family in the city, he decides to remain underground for the next three days. Throughout this short adventure, Holden begins to see the world in a new light, which doesn't stray too far from his in the beginning.

Despite the slow pacing of the novel, The Catcher in the Rye is anything but a regrettable read. In all honesty, after the first time reading it, I began to realize how naïve I had been throughout my life. If I had never discovered this book, I too, might have been considered a "phony". Although The Catcher in the Rye isn't for everyone, I can guarantee you will be satisfied upon finishing the very last page.

J.D. Salinger passed away January 27th of 2010, but he left four of his works behind for readers across the world to enjoy. Throughout his career Salinger taught others about life, and even about oneself. His books can be purchased at most major retailers.

Educator from Jackson County attends training session for Forward in the Fifth Stay in School Toolkit at The Center for Rural Development

It is no secret that school systems in Southern and Eastern Kentucky continue to fight rising high school dropout rates.

But educators now have a new weapon at their disposal in that battle that can encourage more students to stay in school and use education as a stepping stone to pursue successful career goals.

Angela Tincher of Jackson County High School was introduced to the Stay in School Toolkit dropout prevention video and discussion guide just released by Forward in the Fifth and The Center for Rural Development at a regional training session on Tuesday, Feb. 7, at The Center in Somerset.

During the session, Laura Kamperman, community education specialist for Forward in the Fifth, presented the video project and shared some of the real-life stories recorded by individuals in the video. The Stay in School Toolkit contains personal testimonies from eight individuals from rural Appalachia and how choices they made positively and in some cases negatively impacted their education and future.

A discussion guide also is included with the resource that encourages students to freely discuss messages in the video sessions and how those situations apply to their lives.

It is critical to provide our young people with relevant examples of the value an education has today, said Jim Tackett, executive director of Forward in the Fifth. As educators and community leaders alike, we must understand the multiple issues our students deal with in pursuit of a high school education.

Forward in the Fifth, a nonprofit organization and affiliate of The Center, was created by U.S. Congressman Harold Hal Rogers (KY-05) and other leaders in 1986 to help advance educational attainment levels in Southern and Eastern Kentucky.

The Stay in School Toolkit is being released across the region and beyond, in conjunction with training, to assist in discussion and problem-solving of boosting high school graduation rates. Other upcoming training sessions are planned for:

Feb. 16 at The Forum at The Harold Rogers Center (in front of Hazard High School in Hazard)

Feb. 24, University of the Cumberlands, Williamsburg

Feb. 28, Mountain Arts Center, Prestonsburg

March 20, Morehead State University, Morehead

To pre-register for these sessions, visit <http://crdev.us/stayinschooltoolkit> online and complete the registration form. All participants must pre-register prior to any of the scheduled sessions. Session times will be determined based on the number of participants, and registrants will be notified of those times. Educators must attend one of these training sessions before they can receive and use the Stay in School Toolkit in their communities to help lower dropout rates.
